Short Answer: Your background and goals. If possible, please also include a résumé with your application

Below, briefly describe your background in theatre, film, or new media. Give us some insight into how your interests developed, and what you hope to accomplish through the continued study of dramatic media.

Short Answer: TLU Dramatic Media as a Company Ensemble

Scholars in TLU Dramatic Media are members of a company ensemble, meeting Monday through Friday of each week, between the hours of 2:30–5:30 p.m. During this time, production rehearsals and crew work are accomplished in a collaborative environment. Members are expected to contribute in a variety of areas, wherever needed to ensure quality production. Passion, commitment, discipline, and positive energy are expected (and valued as much or more as talent). Below, describe how you think you could contribute to this kind of company.

Send Completed Form to:
Professor David Legore, Chair
Department of Dramatic Media
Texas Lutheran University
1000 W. Court St.
Sequin, TX 78155

Application Deadline: May 1

AUDITIONS/INTERVIEWS: Scholarships are competitive. In addition to the written documents requested, applicants are required to schedule an audition/interview. You will meet with TLU Dramatic Media faculty in an individualized, non-threatening environment.

- Performers should prepare a brief 2-5 minute performance featuring either a monologue, recitation of original writing, vocal solo, dance routine, or combination of these forms.
- Technicians/Designers are encouraged to bring any design portfolio materials if available.
- Writers are encouraged to submit a sample of their original work.
- Digital Artists should prepare a portfolio of their work, through video, CD, or DVD.
- All applicants will participate in an informal interview with departmental faculty.
- Contact Professor David Legore to schedule • 830-372-6021 • dlegore@tlu.edu
