Equine Facilitated Learning

R. Bisha

Have you ever had a conversation up close and personal with a donkey, mule, or miniature horse? This module gives students a chance to meet some equines both online and in-person and find out about a modality for self-exploration that is gaining in popularity: equine facilitated learning. As prey animals who live in herds, equines are particularly attuned to getting along with others and skilled in observing anyone in their surroundings. When we humans observe and interact with them, we touch another way of perceiving the world that can give us insights into our habitual ways. These insights can contribute to our self-development. The leader of this module is certified to facilitate equine facilitated learning experiences in person and in a virtual arena. The module may be completed virtually.
